

THE NORTH FORK ENVIRONMENTAL COUNCIL

presents

PEAK OIL. . . and the effect on our lives.

Conducted by: Izzy Doroski

A special community workshop on the growing problem of the depletion of world oil reserves and what that means to North Fork residents and businesses alike.

What will our future look like?

Let Mr. Doroski open a window into the future and show you what Peak Oil means to the East End.

Where: Riverhead Free Library
(330 Court Street, Riverhead)

When: Friday, April 30th

Time: 7:00 p.m.
(Seating is limited – no reservations required.)

A member of the Riverhead Town Energy Advisory Committee, Mr. Doroski holds a Bachelors of Science Degree in Biology. In addition, he has been employed by the Suffolk County Department of Health Services for more than 27 years. Mr. Doroski's goal is to make people understand the effects Peak Oil will have on this country, in general, and Long Island, in particular. Through this education effort, it's his hope that people will be motivated to be part of the solution to this problem.
